

FORMING ARRAY DISPLAYS

Abstract of the Disclosure

An array display may be formed of panels that include a resilient material positioned around their edges. The 5 resilient material may be black to promote a seamless appearance. Because the material is resilient, it may facilitate the interconnection of panels to form the array, preventing damage during assembly or thereafter.

0995367 101101